

TSVS kids told to save resources

DB Post Correspondent

Bhopal: The Sanskaar Valley School on Tuesday organised parents' assembly on the school premises.

Mothers of class III students performed enthusiastically for their wards. The theme of the assembly was 'Save Resources', primarily water, electricity and food.

Participation of fathers made it truly special because this was the first time when they came forward. Parents had been rigorously practising for the main event. Excitement and creativity were palpable. Parents had designed very artsy props which they used throughout the assembly.

The assembly began in a traditional manner with Saraswati Vandana. The clown had a dramatic entry into the assembly.

Children thoroughly enjoyed it and followed the actions of the clown throughout. The clown kept posing questions to the student audience, because of which, they were fully attentive and grasped every bit.

A skit revolving around the plot of a birthday party depicted wastage of resources. Dances performed were an exciting affair, making the audience sway. The entire audience took an oath to save resources.
